DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7-8, 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nanba et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,874,905) in view of Sato (JP 2002-090167).

As to claim 7, Nanba et al. disclose a display method of a car navigation which displays a position and proceeding direction of a user's car on a road map and displays a guide route on the road map, the display method displays traffic information and a reliability of the traffic information overlapped on the road map (See abstract; col. 4, lines 50-65-col. 5, lines 1-10; col. 6, lines 19-41; col. 8, lines 55-67-col. 9, lines 1-8; col. 10, lines 60-67-col. 11, lines 1-13). Nanba et al. fail to specifically disclose a graphic at a position on the road map corresponding to traffic jam statistical information, wherein the graphic depends on the traffic jam statistical information and a reliability of the traffic jam statistical information. In an analogous art, Sato discloses a route guiding method for on-vehicle navigation device wherein it disclose a graphic at a position on the road map corresponding to traffic jam statistical information, wherein the graphic depends on the traffic jam statistical information and a reliability of the traffic jam statistical information (See abstract, Figure). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the system of Nanba et al. with that of Sato by having a graphic at a position on the road map corresponding to traffic jam statistical information, wherein the graphic depends on the traffic jam statistical information and a reliability of the traffic jam statistical information in order to avoid route with traffic jam.

As to claims 8, 10, Nanba et al. disclose a display which changes in colors and classifying colors but does not specifically disclose a circle and classifying the colors with the traffic jam. However, Nanba et al. disclose different patterns and direction mark in larger size and changing color in the display (See col. 11, lines 1-14). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have different patterns and colors with display and traffic jam in order to better understand the displayed route information.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 7-8, 10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
